

GMGOC Sunday Lunch

23rd February 2020

For the February Sunday lunch, the venue selected was The Tudor Arms at Shepherds Patch, situated ½ mile from the Slimbridge Wildfowl and Wetlands Trust. The Tudor Arms is a large, family operated Free House situated beside the Gloucester-Sharpness Canal. The original part of the building dates from the 18th century and was a licensed beer and cider house for the Irish Navigator Soldiers who dug the canal by hand

The pub generally offers a good selection of pub grub at lunch times and of course the provision of Sunday Roasts, which all of the MG members opted for.

With twenty three MG members signed up for the event, members started to arrive around 11.30am ready for our meals to be served at 12.00., with a few members arriving early and having a brief walk up to the bridge over the canal before making their way to the bar for drinks.

We were allocated the spacious conservatory area within the restaurant, and with every one settling down around the log table, we realized that Chris and Penny were missing, and after a few quick e-mails, Chris informed me he had overlooked the event, and was unable to attend.

So with various conversations starting up we were soon served and started tucking in the chosen meals, with choices of Roast Pork, Beef, Turkey or Lamb on offer. After the main courses were devoured a few of us had also opted for desserts and coffees for others. The food and service was very good, and as far as I know everyone enjoyed the lunch.

Keith & Wendy would like to thank everyone for attending and hope you all had an enjoyable meal, and also to thank the staff at The Tudor Arms for making us feel welcome.
